The injuries described within the report appeared consistent with injuries sustained from gunshots. No suspicious injuries to other parts of the body were identified. There was evidence present which indicated medical care was administered. Two projectiles were recovered from Green's body; each of them traveled from left to right, downward, and front to back. Details regarding the gunshot wounds, the path, course and direction of the projectiles have been outlined later in this report.

The "diagnoses" section of the report listed the following information:
