Dear Fellow Ohioan:

On April 8, 2004, Ohio's new concealed handgun law went into effect and for the first time, Ohioans could apply to their county sheriffs for a license to carry a concealed handgun. In the last year, tens of thousands of law-abiding citizens have taken handgun safety courses from certified instructors, applied for, and were issued, licenses to carry a concealed handgun.

As the chief public official charged with implementing the concealed handgun law statewide, my office has undertaken a number of actions pertaining to the concealed carry law, and I am proud of the work my staff has done to ensure a smooth rollout of this new law.

Over the past 12 months, my office has answered thousands of questions from citizens and from law enforcement about the new law, created and maintained new publications, a website, and electronic databases required by the statute, processed in a timely fashion more than 45,000 criminal background checks, and provided in-person and online training and assistance to sheriffs to help them fulfill their obligations under the law.

Members of my staff formalized reciprocity agreements with 16 other states to allow recognition of those states' CCW licenses in Ohio and to allow Ohioans to carry concealed weapons while outside the State, and developed processes to allow Probate Courts and hospitals to report data regarding persons disqualified from receiving licenses for medical reasons. My office also issued two advisory opinions concerning the law and successfully defended it against a court challenge in the Ohio Supreme Court.

Part of the sheriff's responsibilities under the law is to report to the Ohio Peace Officer Training Commission the number of regular and temporary emergency licenses they issued, the number of applications they denied, and how many licenses were suspended or revoked. The Commission is required to compile those statistics and present them to the Governor and the leadership of the Ohio General Assembly.

I am pleased to present this first annual report to the Governor and leadership of the Ohio General Assembly on the activities in Ohio relating to the Ohio Concealed Carry Law.

Very Truly Yours,

Ohio's Concealed Handgun Law 2004 Report

Ohio's law to allow citizens to carry concealed handguns went into effect on April 8, 2004. The law allows citizens with proper firearms safety training to apply with their county sheriff, or a sheriff of an adjacent county, for a license to carry a concealed handgun.

Persons who apply for a license are required to undergo a criminal history background check to ensure that they are not prohibited by law from carrying a concealed handgun. For persons who have lived in Ohio for five years or more, the sheriff submits the applicant's fingerprints electronically to the Ohio Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation for an in-state criminal background check. Applicants who have lived in Ohio fewer than five years are required to undergo a national check through the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Substitute House Bill 12 of the 125th General Assembly, which allowed citizens to carry concealed weapons, requires county sheriffs to provide statistical information about the licenses they issue to the Ohio Peace Officer Training Commission. The Commission, in turn, is required by Ohio Revised Code Chapter 109.731 to compile those statistics and report them to the Governor and the leadership of the General Assembly each year. This document is the first such report under Ohio's new law.

Licenses Issued

In 2004, Ohio sheriffs issued 45,497 regular licenses to carry concealed weapons. The sheriffs issued 65 temporary emergency licenses, which allow a person who submits evidence of imminent danger to receive a non-renewable 90-day license to carry a concealed handgun.

Licenses Suspended or Revoked

Under R.C. 2923.128 sheriffs must immediately suspend a concealed handgun license upon notification that the licensee has been arrested or charged with certain offenses, or if the licensee is the subject of a protection order issued by a court. At the end of 2004, 78 licenses had been suspended by Ohio sheriffs under the law. That same section of the Ohio Revised Code also requires sheriffs to revoke the license of any person who no longer meets the eligibility requirements to carry a concealed handgun. In 2004, Ohio sheriffs revoked 42 regular licenses and 4 temporary emergency licenses.

Applications Denied

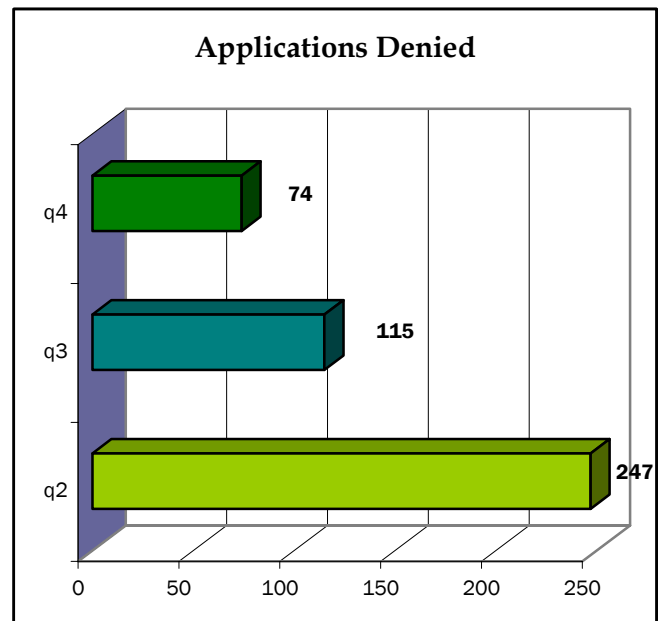

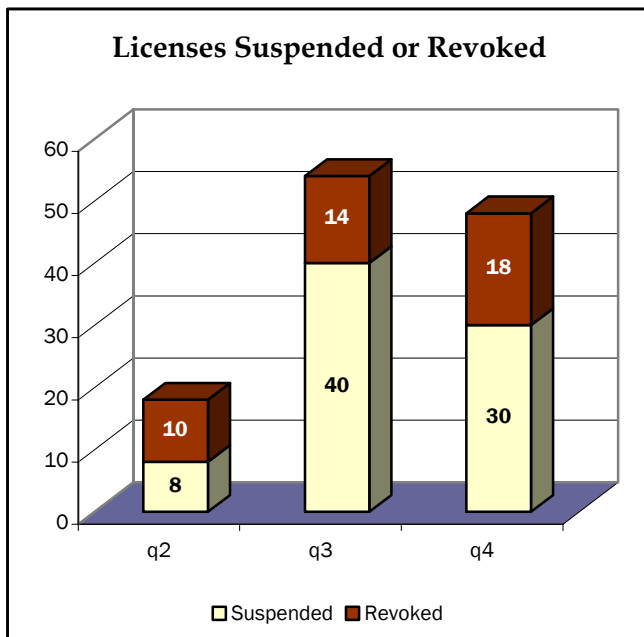

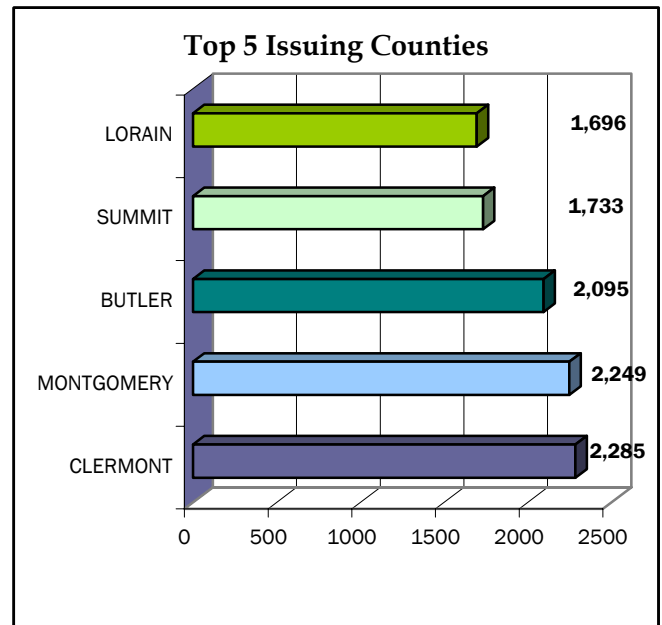

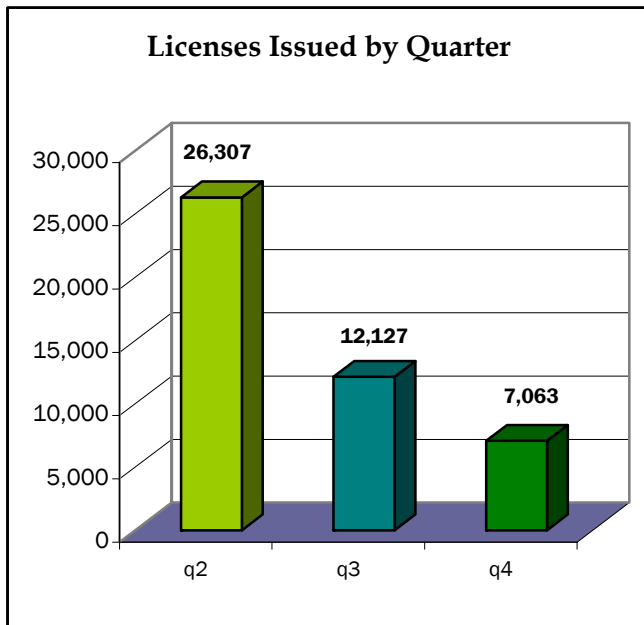

The law requires that sheriffs shall deny an application by any person who fails to meet the eligibility criteria specified in R.C. 2923.125 for regular licenses, or R.C. 2923.1213 for temporary emergency licenses. In 2004, sheriffs denied 436 applications for regular licenses and 5 applications for temporary emergency licenses.

Reciprocal Agreements

In 2004, Attorney General Jim Petro's Office, as directed by R.C. 109.69, entered into 16 reciprocal agreements with other states, allowing Ohioans to carry concealed handguns in those states. In addition to those states, Petro's office contacted an additional 6 states to begin the process of finalizing reciprocal agreements. The remaining 28 states either do not have concealed handgun laws, have laws that are not "substantially comparable" to Ohio's law, or do not allow for reciprocal agreements. A map indicating the states with which Ohio has reciprocal agreements accompanies this report.
