BREAKING: Armed Suspect Identified in Overnight Standoff on East Warren Street; Gunshots Fired at Officers

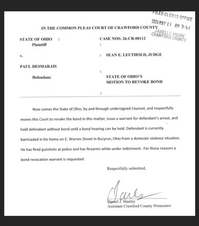

Logan Andrew Published: May 11, 2026 | Updated: May 11, 2026 2 minutes read

by Logan Andrew, Seren Valehart, Staff | FreeWire Magazine — Your News, Your Voice

BUCYRUS, OH — What began as a late-night domestic disturbance has escalated into a high-stakes tactical standoff in the heart of Bucyrus. As of early Monday morning, May 11, a heavy law enforcement presence remains centered around the 900 block of East Warren Street. The situation, which has kept neighbors on edge for hours, involves an armed suspect who has reportedly fired gunshots at responding officers.

Court documents filed at 7:41 AM this morning in the Crawford County Common Pleas Court identify the barricaded individual as Paul Desmarais. The State of Ohio, through Assistant Prosecutor Daniel J. Stanley, has filed an emergency motion to revoke Desmarais's bond (Case No: 26-CR-00112). According to the filing, Desmarais is currently under indictment and in possession of firearms—a direct violation of his legal status. The motion explicitly states that the defendant "has fired gunshots at police" during this ongoing incident.

IN THE COMMON PLEAS COURT OF CRAWFORD COUNTY, OHIO

STATE OF OHIO, Plaintiff
v.
PAUL DESMARAIS, Defendant.

CASE NOS: 26-CR-00112
SEAN E. LITTEFIELD, JUDGE
STATE OF OHIO'S MOTION TO REVOKE BOND

Now comes the State of Ohio, by and through undersigned Counsel, and respectfully moves this Court to revoke the bond in this matter, issue a warrant for defendant's arrest, and hold defendant without bond until a bond hearing can be held. Defendant is currently barricaded in his home on E. Warren Street in Bucyrus, Ohio from a domestic violence situation. He has fired gunshots at police and has firearms while under indictment. For these reasons a bond revocation warrant is requested.

Respectfully submitted,

Daniel J. Stanley
Assistant Crawford County Prosecutor

Visuals from the scene show a massive response from local authorities. A S.W.A.T. tactical vehicle was deployed early in the standoff, and by 6:40 AM, a specialized "Rook" armored vehicle was observed being transported into the area near the intersection of E. Warren and Kearsley Streets. The Rook is a critical piece of tactical equipment often used for safe structure breaches when negotiations have stalled. Its arrival signals that law enforcement is prepared to take decisive action to resolve the threat.

The Bucyrus Police Department issued an official alert at 3:25 AM, urging residents to avoid the area and follow all law enforcement directives. Road closures are currently in effect throughout the immediate neighborhood. "The safety of the public and responding officers remains our top priority," the BPD stated in their early morning update.

This is a fluid and developing situation. FreeWire is on the ground monitoring the scene and waiting for an official statement on the suspect's status. Stay tuned for further updates as this story develops.

This little "bung" is just another metaphorical microcosm of what's happening and going to continue to happen all over America and probably the world. Too many people on the bottom of the socioeconomic ladder are being intentionally and deliberately destroyed by the system one "move" at a time. I don't pretend to know the specifics of this particular situation but, I know that I expect to see more of these events happening. There's an old adage that says "A fish rots from the head down"
Think on that for a minute.

TraciVern Bahr They tried for 12 hours to get this guy to surrender. They tried tear gas but he was wearing a gas mask. He was also wearing body armor. When he fired at police officers, they had no choice but to return fire. Unfortunately this sounds more like suicide by law enforcement. The guy also threatened to set off explosives. And explosives were found. This guy could have killed a lot of his neighbors, and then people would be yelling that police didn't do enough. Twelve hours is plenty of time to surrender.

Not just MPD, Ashland and Crawford with Richland county sheriff, Lexington and Bucyrus along with Ontario police..and the fucking Ohio State Highway Patrol + SWAT and bomb squad to handle the explosives in the house. Also the county coroner was on scene beforehand for obvious reasons..and BFO/medics. I believe that's everyone noteworthy

They wrecked the house because they could,and before I get bashed for hating on L.E. im not doing that at all,I back the blue,but im sure its a tactical approach to get the suspect to surrender thinking the house is coming down around him.

Eric Bowser How go look up the REAL statistics that are backed up by countless countless legitimate sources. It's funny when I see people try and post a statistic like this it NEVER has a source at all let alone a credible one. Would you like me to provide the statistics from every single Ivy League university? How about the actual statistics shared from FBI or homeland security??? Don't be a sheep, fact check in your friend and it's right in your pocket at all times. No excuse for being uneducated or spreading false information

My thoughts and prayers goes out to the home owner . Now that person is stuck covering the cost of repairing the house. Too bad they can't sue the suspected shooter's family and law enforcement for the damages. Until the home owners can come up with the money to make repairs. The house will sit boarded up and vacant

Tammy McQuillen How? Has anyone actually explained how this $1 million toy operates? How it is better than handheld phones, etc. operated by police in their cars? Your post suggests you know. Seriously, enlighten those of us taxpayers who are $1 million poorer because of it?

This is a picture of the negotiaters station inside the mobile command center. The screens are connected to a drone which was deployed to provide real time video of the suspect and situation as negotiations were happening. This unit was paid for using grants and unused police salaries that had to be spent. If you get the chance, you should tour this mobile center and see how it works. It's amazing and Mansfield is lucky to have it!

for full police staffing which is currently not the case. So the remainder became an MPD slushfund? It could have, SHOULD have, been reallocated back to the city that heavily taxes itself for basic services. Tell me the numerous park renewal projects underway could not have used those "unused police salary" monies to benefit the city's kids? What about the unfunded dry dam that sits idle because of no money? Also, "grants" is a misleading term. Correct me if I'm wrong, but didn't the lion's share of those million dollars come from federal ARPA funds? Again, that was money that could have been reallocated for quality-of-life projects around the city, projects that would've easily fallen within ARPA guidelines. The thing is, and we both know this, that million-dollar Winnebago is yet another MPD frill, one of many wishlist wants that the department always pushes through by stoking fear among one local demographic against another. They build monuments to themselves in the city parks hyping themselves as the thin blue line. Again, that's just thinly-veiled dog whistling directed toward you-know-who against we-know-whom. It always works, and that is sad. Three of the county's largest school districts (two of them among the most affluent) just cratered their school levies this week, laying off teachers, closing school buildings, villainizing school employee salaries, and telling kids to do much more with much, much less. Why does no one ever tell MPD the same? I think most of us know the answer to that question.

Bucyrus man "dies" in standoff.. did he have a heart attack? did he die of old age? Or, was he intentionally executed by law enforcement? It's not up to me to decide if he deserved it or not but, let's not be misleading with the information. Don't be fox news.

Police shoot 41-year-old Bucyrus man after hours-long standoff

By Matt Travers
Mansfield News Journal

Officers shot and killed a 41-year-old Bucyrus man who was "firing a weapon and threatening law enforcement."

Paul A. Desmarais was barricaded inside a house on the west block of East Warren Street. Bucyrus Police Chief Jon Kovacs said that is during a police standoff.

"After several hours of unsuccessful negotiations and several attempts to see how Desmarais was doing, the command determined that he had explosive devices in the house and that he was a threat to the safety of the community," Kovacs said.

Nobody else was injured. The chief said the incident is no longer a threat to the public.

'Officers were being shot at'

The situation began as a domestic dispute call about 10:30 p.m. May 10.

When officers arrived on scene, they saw Desmarais "wearing body armor and carrying a firearm."

By 3:30 a.m., the police department used social media to warn Bucyrus residents of the "armed barricaded suspect situation."

Officers made sure that the man's wife and children were not in danger.

"He was in the house alone," Kovacs said.

Police tried to use tear gas to subdue Desmarais, but that effort was unsuccessful.

"He had a gas mask on," Kovacs said. "That's when officers were being shot at ... they were trying to use gas to get him to surrender."

The identity of the officer who shot Desmarais, as well as other officials, will not be made public until after the investigation is complete, Crawford County Prosecutor Brett Crall said.

Paul A. Desmarais, 41, of Bucyrus, was killed by police during a standoff on May 10, 2022. Desmarais was barricaded inside a home on the west block of East Warren Street in Bucyrus.

"It's been confirmed that it was not one of our local agencies in Crawford County," Crall said.

Police Chief Jon Kovacs said the Desmarais standing the "new normal" of May 11.

Police found explosives at the scene

Police recovered explosive devices from the scene, which the chief said would be detonated safely in a controlled environment.

Police explosive materials the possession called "ingredients" were recovered throughout the afternoon.

"This is still under investigation," Crall said. "The Ohio Bureau of Criminal Investigation is still on scene."

Authorities are not sure how long the investigation might take.

"Right now, it's going to take some time to go through," Crall said. "The entire investigation will be forwarded to the prosecutor's office."

Protocol for police shootings is for the case to be presented to a grand jury for review.

"We're not saying for officer did anything wrong," Crall said. "We're doing what is necessary and proper to have a full and transparent investigation."

The domestic dispute and the events surrounding the shooting will be investigated separately.

BUCYRUS, Ohio — An armed domestic dispute in Bucyrus ended in a fatal officer-involved shooting Monday morning after an hours-long standoff involving a barricaded suspect who police said was wearing body armor, carrying a firearm and later threatened law enforcement with explosives.

According to the Bucyrus Police Department, officers were called to a domestic dispute at approximately 10:21 p.m. Sunday in the 900 block of East Warren Street. When officers arrived, they observed a man inside the residence wearing body armor and carrying a firearm.

The suspect was identified as Paul A. Desmarais, 41, of Bucyrus.

Bucyrus Police Chief Jon A. Dorsey said Desmarais barricaded himself inside the home as Bucyrus officers, along with local and state law enforcement partners, attempted to negotiate with him for several hours. The standoff continued into Monday morning.

According to the police department, officers made several attempts to use less-lethal tactics before the situation escalated. Desmarais allegedly threatened that he had explosive devices and fired multiple shots at officers. That led to an officer-involved shooting, police said.

No officers were injured.

Chief Dorsey said during a press conference Monday afternoon that Desmarais was alone inside the home during the incident. He also confirmed that other people were believed to have been inside the residence when officers initially responded to the domestic dispute, but they were not inside during the standoff.

After the shooting, officers cleared the residence and located explosive materials. The Ashland County Sheriff's Office Bomb Squad was called to the scene due to concerns about possible explosives inside the home.

Dorsey said explosive materials were contained and removed from the residence, with some items expected to be detonated at another location. He said investigators remained cautious because additional ingredients or materials were still inside the home.

"There is no threat to public safety," the Bucyrus Police Department said in its media release.

During the press conference, Dorsey said officers attempted to use gas or similar less-lethal methods to get Desmarais to surrender, but officials believed he had a gas mask on.

"He had no intention in coming out is what it appears," Dorsey said.

Authorities did not confirm whether a hand grenade was found, though Dorsey said police did locate explosives and that the caution used by officers was warranted. He declined to discuss the exact type of explosive materials due to the ongoing investigation.

Dorsey said the officer involved in the shooting was not from a local Crawford County agency, but he did not identify the officer or agency involved.

The Bucyrus Police Department was assisted by the Crawford County Sheriff's Office, Richland County Sheriff's Office, Ashland County Sheriff's Office, Mansfield Police Department, Lexington Police Department, Ontario Police Department, Crawford County Coroner's Office, Ohio State Highway Patrol and Bucyrus Fire Department.

The Ohio Bureau of Criminal Investigation was requested to investigate the officer-involved shooting and remained on scene Monday. Officials said the completed investigation will likely be forwarded to the prosecutor's office and presented to a grand jury, which is standard procedure in officer-involved shootings.

Dorsey said the incident was difficult for his department and the surrounding law enforcement community.

"Nobody wants it to end this way," Dorsey said, adding that multiple agencies responded quickly and worked together during the lengthy standoff.

Officials also addressed rumors circulating in the community, including a claim that Desmarais may have fallen from a roof or window. Dorsey said that claim was not true.

The domestic dispute remains under investigation by the Bucyrus Police Department. The officer-involved shooting remains under investigation by BCI.

Bucyrus police chief: 'It can happen anywhere. We're not exempt from violence'

Law enforcement agencies across north-central Ohio respond to 12-hour standoff that ended with officer-involved shooting

by Carl Hunnell and Carl Hunnell May 11, 2026

BUCYRUS — It's not the kind of violence often seen in small-town America, especially in communities with a population of just under 12,000.

But Bucyrus police Chief Jon Dorsey made it clear no location is exempt from the scene seen on Monday, after a nearly 12-hour standoff inside a house that ended with law enforcement returning gunfire and killing the lone suspect.

It ended with the death of Paul Desmarais, 41, who barricaded himself inside a home in the 900 block of East Warren Street.

"It can happen anywhere. We're not exempt from violence happening here," the police chief said Monday afternoon during a press conference with Crawford County Prosecutor Matt Crall.

"Unfortunately, human nature is unpredictable," said Dorsey, who began with the BPD as an officer in 2002 and became chief in July 2025.

"It can happen anywhere. Is it a result of mental illness? I don't know. I'm not a psychiatrist. Is it drugs? I'm not sure.

"But it's everywhere and we're not exempt. It just doesn't happen as often here, but everything does happen in this city, like it happens everywhere else," Dorsey said.

Standoff began with domestic issue

The incident began Sunday at 10:21 p.m. in the Crawford County seat when police responded to a domestic dispute and encountered Desmarais, reportedly armed with a gun and clad in body armor.

It ended late Monday morning, according to Dorsey, after negotiations failed to gain the suspect's surrender.

Desmarais apparently had explosives and a gas mask, which later made law enforcement's use of tear gas inside the house ineffective.

Bucyrus police during the night used social media to warn residents of the situation. A growing law enforcement presence was mustered as Desmarais refused to surrender. Dorsey said the suspect was alone in the house at the time.

The BPD was assisted by the Crawford County Sheriff's Office, Richland County Sheriff's Office, Ashland County Sheriff's Office, Mansfield Police Department, Lexington Police Department, Ontario Police Department, Crawford County Coroner's Office, Ohio State Highway Patrol and the Bucyrus Fire Department.

The Mansfield Police Department also sent its new mobile operations center and drone unit to assist during the long standoff.

An armored SWAT vehicle featuring a hydraulic breaching ram was eventually used to break through the front of the house. A state patrol machine tore into the rear of the house.

Tear gas was used, but Desmarais was prepared with his mask.

"That's when officers were being shot at ... they were trying to use gas to get him to surrender," Dorsey said.

"He had a gas mask on ... so he had no intention of coming out is what it appears," Dorsey said.

The suspect fired on law enforcement officers, who returned fire and killed the suspect.

Neither the identities of the officers who fired shots nor the departments they represented were announced on Monday during the press conference.

Desmarais was out on $25,000 bond after being indicted in April on an unrelated felony intimidation charge. After the incident began, Crall's office successfully asked Crawford County Common Pleas Court Judge Sean Leuthold to revoke that bond.

Crall said that indictment came after an April 14 incident in which Desmarais allegedly threatened a Bucyrus police officer.

"I don't believe that officer was even on duty today, so there's not a crossover there," the prosecutor said.

The standoff occurred in the 900 block of East Warren Street in Bucyrus, police said. (Google maps)

Ohio Bureau of Criminal Investigation handling probe

Crall said during the press conference that the Ohio Bureau of Criminal Investigation was in charge of the scene.

"We want to make sure that we have transparency for the public, so they can know what's going on here. But we're still investigating, so we ask everyone to please remain patient," the prosecutor said.

"These things often take quite some time to go through. The entire investigation will be forwarded to the prosecutor's office and most likely this will then go in front of a grand jury.

"That's just the typical process that we go through whenever there's an officer-involved shooting. Obviously, we're not saying the officer did anything wrong.

"But we just make sure that we are doing what is necessary and proper to have a full and transparent investigation."

Crall said the officers firing the shots at the suspect were not from any Crawford County law enforcement agency.

"I asked that question because of my own potential conflicts," the prosecutor said.

'Situations like this ... nobody wants to see ever'

Dorsey said officers cleared the residence and explosive materials were found, contained and removed from the home. He declined to identify the type of explosives found.

Bucyrus City Schools were closed Monday as the situation unfolded.

There is no threat to public safety and no officers were injured, Dorsey said Monday afternoon.

The veteran officer said it was a difficult situation for everyone involved.

"Our department is kind of like a family, so it is very difficult. My department is young. However, we had a lot of assistance from a lot of other agencies," the chief said.

"I do want to thank those guys because everybody responded quickly and we all came together.

"Situations like this ... nobody wants to see ever," the chief said. "We attempted numerous times to use less-than-lethal tactics. Nobody wants it to end this way."

He said the BPD was still ready to assist city residents.

"My message is the Bucyrus Police Department is still here. If you need anything, please contact us. We do care. We will respond. We will take care of you.

"If you need anything, please call us. I genuinely love this city. Anytime anything happens, we will do anything and everything we can.

"That's why whenever something like this does happen, We rally together and we will get through. We will come together and we're going to be a strong community again.

"This is a safe community. It's a strong community."

BUCYRUS, Ohio (WCMH) — A suspect is dead after shots were fired at officers in a residential area of Crawford County during a police standoff Monday morning, police said.

According to the Bucyrus Police Department, shots were fired at officers in the 900 block of East Bucyrus Police Chief Jon Dorsey said officers tried for hours to negotiate with Desmarais, who was wearing body armor. Desmarais reportedly threatened the officers with explosives, which were later found inside the home.

"We attempted numerous times to use less than lethal tactics," he said. "Nobody wants it to end this way. It was understood that he had a gas mask on and that's when officers were being shot at."

Officers did not say who shot Desmarais, but said it was not a local officer.

During the standoff, a motion was filed in Crawford County court of common pleas to revoke the bond of Desmarais. Desmarais was charged with intimidation in April after allegedly threatening an officer and was issued a $25,000 bond on May 4.

The incident has caused Bucyrus City Schools to close for the day.

BUCYRUS – A Bucyrus man was fatally shot Monday after barricading himself inside a residence, firing a weapon and threatening law enforcement, authorities reported in a press release.

The suspect, identified as Paul A. Desmarais, 41, barricaded himself inside the residence during a domestic dispute.

Bucyrus police officers, along with local and state law-enforcement partners, attempted to negotiate with Desmarais over a number of hours, Bucyrus Police Chief Jon A. Dorsey stated in the press release.

On Sunday at about 10:21 p.m., officers responded to a domestic dispute call in the 900 block of East Warren Street. Upon arrival, officers say they saw a male inside the residence wearing body armor and carrying a firearm.

(Below is a City of Bucyrus press conference Monday afternoon. The press conference begins at the 15:20 mark.)

Police reported several hours of unsuccessful negotiations lasted into Monday. After several attempts to use less-than-lethal tactics, the suspect threatened he had an explosive device and fired multiple shots at officers, resulting in an officer-involved shooting.

Dorsey said officers cleared the residence and explosive materials were found, contained and removed from the home.

Bucyrus City Schools were closed Monday as the situation unfolded.

There is no threat to public safety and no officers were injured, Dorsey said.

The domestic dispute remains under investigation by the Bucyrus Police Department. The Ohio Bureau of Criminal Investigation was requested to investigate the officer-involved shooting.

The Bucyrus Police Department was assisted by the Crawford County Sheriff's Office, Richland County Sheriff's Office, Ashland County Sheriff's Office, Mansfield Police Department, Lexington Police Department, Ontario Police Department, Crawford County Coroner's Office, Ohio State Highway Patrol and the Bucyrus Fire Department.

Bucyrus police chief: 'It can happen anywhere. We're not exempt from violence'

Law enforcement agencies across north central Ohio respond to 12-hour standoff that ended with officer-involved shooting

BUCYRUS — It's not the kind of violence often seen in small-town America, especially in communities with a population of just under 12,000.

But Bucyrus police Chief Jon Dorsey made it clear no location is exempt from the scene seen on Monday, after a nearly 12-hour standoff inside a house that ended with law enforcement returning gunfire and killing the lone suspect.

It ended with the death of Paul Desmarais, 41, who barricaded himself inside a home in the 900 block of East Warren Street.

"It can happen anywhere. We're not exempt from violence happening here," the police chief said Monday afternoon during a press conference with Crawford County Prosecutor Matt Crall.

"Unfortunately, human nature is unpredictable," said Dorsey, who began with the BPD as an officer in 2002 and became chief in July 2025.

"It can happen anywhere. Is it a result of mental illness? I don't know. I'm not a psychiatrist. It is drugs? I'm not sure.

"But it's everywhere and we're not exempt. It just doesn't happen as often here, but everything does happen in this city, like it happens everywhere else," Dorsey said.

Standoff began with domestic issue

The incident began Sunday at 10:21 p.m. in the Crawford County seat when police responded to a domestic dispute and encountered Desmarais, reportedly armed with a gun and clad in body armor.

It ended late Monday morning, according to Dorsey, after negotiations failed to gain the suspect's surrender.

Desmarais apparently had explosives and a gas mask, which later made law enforcement's use of tear gas inside the house ineffective.

Bucyrus police during the night used social media to warn residents of the situation. A growing law enforcement presence was mustered as Desmarais refused to surrender. Dorsey said the suspect was alone in the house at the time.

The BPD was assisted by the Crawford County Sheriff's Office, Richland County Sheriff's Office, Ashland County Sheriff's Office, Mansfield Police Department, Lexington Police Department, Ontario Police Department, Crawford County Coroner's Office, Ohio State Highway Patrol and the Bucyrus Fire Department.

The Mansfield Police Department also sent its new mobile operations center and drone unit to assist during the long standoff.

An armored SWAT vehicle featuring a hydraulic breaching ram was eventually used to break through the front of the house. A state patrol machine tore into the rear of the house.

Tear gas was used, but Desmarais was prepared with his mask.

"That's when officers were being shot at ... they were trying to use gas to get him to surrender," Dorsey said.

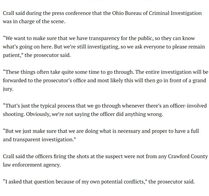

"He had a gas mask on ... so he had no intention of coming out is what it appears," Dorsey said.

The suspect fired on law enforcement officers, who returned fire and killed the suspect.

Neither the identities of the officers who fired shots nor the departments they represented were announced on Monday during the press conference.

Desmarais was out on $25,000 bond after being indicted in April on an unrelated felony intimidation charge. After the incident began, Crall's office successfully asked Crawford County Common Pleas Court Judge Sean Lansdowlo to revoke that bond.

Crall said that indictment came after an April 14 incident in which Desmarais allegedly threatened a Bucyrus police officer.

The standoff occurred in the 900 block of East Warren Street in Bucyrus, police said. (Google maps)

Ohio Bureau of Criminal Investigation handling probe

Crall said during the press conference that the Ohio Bureau of Criminal Investigation was in charge of the scene.

"We want to make sure that we have transparency for the public, so they can know what's going on here. But we're still investigating, so we ask everyone to please remain patient," the prosecutor said.

"These things often take quite some time to go through. The entire investigation will be forwarded to the prosecutor's office and most likely this will then go in front of a grand jury.

"That's just the typical process that we go through whenever there's an officer involved shooting. Obviously, we're not saying the officer did anything wrong.

"But we just make sure that we are doing what is necessary and proper to have a full and transparent investigation."

Crall said the officers firing the shots at the suspect were not from any Crawford County law enforcement agency.

"I asked that question because of my own potential conflicts," the prosecutor said.

'Situations like this ... nobody wants to see ever'

Dorsey said officers cleared the residence and explosive materials were found, contained and removed from the home. He declined to identify the type of explosives found.

Bucyrus City Schools were closed Monday as the situation unfolded.

There is no threat to public safety and no officers were injured, Dorsey said Monday afternoon.

The veteran officer said it was a difficult situation for everyone involved.

"Our department is kind of like a family, so it is very difficult. Everyone is hurting. However, we had a lot of assistance from a lot of other agencies," the chief said.

"I do want to thank those guys because everybody responded quickly and we all came together.

"Situations like this ... nobody wants to see ever," the chief said. "We attempted numerous times to use less-than-lethal tactics. Nobody wants it to end this way."

He said the BPD was still ready to assist city residents.

"My message is the Bucyrus Police Department is still here. If you need anything, please contact us. We do care. We will respond. We will take care of you.

"If you need anything, please call us. I genuinely love this city. Anytime anything happens, we will do anything and everything we can.

"That's why whenever something like this does happen, We rally together and we will get through. We will come together and we're going to be a strong community again.

"This is a safe community. It's a strong community."

12/13/2023

On the date above I was dispatched to Walmart in regards to a disturbance. Upon arrival I spoke with Sherry Cobb (Assistant GM). Ms. Cobb adv a man came in to make a return on a phone that he had purchased on walmart.com because he wasn't happy with the condition that it arrived in. The male requested that he get the refund that day and a 10% discount on a new one from the store. Ms. Cobb stated that they couldn't do that for him and the man became anger and started to caller vulgar names and wishing harm on her. Ms. Cobb stated that he then left. She didn't get a name from the man. Lost Prevention did have a phone number for the man and was able to get pictures of the man. I was then adv by Loss prevention that they would like to have the man trespassed from the store. I then returned to station to call the man. The man gave a similar story but refused to identify himself.

Later Walmart called the station with Identification for the man saying his name is Paul Desmaraius and gave us a address (905 E Warren St.) where we might find him. I went to the 905 E Warren St. to speak with Mr. Desmaraius. I was able to make contact with him. Mr. Desmaraius he gave me the same story and I adv him that he was being trespassed from the Walmart on 1875 E Mansfield St. and if he were to return he would be charged.
