- Butler County Sheriff's Office (BCSO) Incident Report# 2024-06-0109 (attachment #05)
 - On June 7, 2024, BCSO deputies were dispatched to a residence for a burglary in progress. The caller told dispatch that an unknown white female with a dog had entered the home uninvited. The subject was located in the kitchen area and was identified as Kelsey Hildal. When speaking with Hildal, she seemed manic and said people were chasing her. Her vehicle, a red Ford Escape bearing Ohio registration JVV3278, was called in a reckless operator. The caller stated the driver was passing vehicles at a high rate of speed on Princeton Road and then pulled over and ran from the vehicle into the wood line. Hildal's vehicle was located directly behind the home where she was located. The victims declined to press charges.
 - Dispatch contacted Hildal's mother, who responded and took possession of the dog and the vehicle. When speaking with the mother about Hildal, she stated that she is not a drug user and this is not like her at all. Hildal was voluntarily taken to Atrium Hospital for a physiological evaluation.

Mr. Rohn Hidal is the victim's father. He, his wife, and other family members brought Kelsey to B.A.P.D. declaring her to be suffering a psychiatric emergency.

Apparently Kelsey is a college student in Mississippi. Yesterday family members traveled there, and had her evaluated at a medical center. She was discharged from that center. The Hidals drove Kelsey to their home on Decima. Kelsey states that her father physically restrained her, during an argument, in attempt to get her to go for another evaluation.

I did see the medical report on Kelsey, which the Hidals showed to me. It indicated anxiety, but held no evidence of any suicidal tendencies or threats. The report contained nothing indicating that Kelsey was a danger to herself or others.

I spoke to Kelsey independent of her family members. It is apparent that she is under considerable stress. At my suggestion, she decided to voluntarily admit herself to U.C. Psychiatric, to try to alleviate stress at the residence and satisfy her parents. She also stated she could use a break from the stress in the household. She voluntarily went with Blue Ash paramedics to University/Deaconess psychiatric.

On 06/24/19, I observed an advertisement on the website "rubratings.com" and observed multiple female subject's advertising massage services. The ad showed all the females wearing only their bra and underwear posing in provocative positions. Some of the pictures even showed the women topless while posing. I then initiated a recorded conversation with "Lena" who then sent a hyperlink of www.mountainviewrelaxation.com/cincinnati". I then clicked on the link it showed "Lena" and seven other females at the Cincinnati location. I observed one of the ads for a female named "Rose" state "Hi Boys! How do you like my pics? Want to touch and be touched? Lets do it!...I'm 5'4, 130lbs, and a 34 C cup, so I have curves in all the right places!"

On 06/25/19, I located an ad on the "mountainview relaxation" website for a female named Lindsay. I also located a similar ad for Lindsay on "rubratings.com" The "rubratings" ad was headed "Make you dreams come true with lindsay!!". The ad went on to say "I love giving massages and getting them " The ad stated "Lindsay" charged $120 for an hour of incall services.

I then initiated a recorded conversation with the listed phone number on the ad and agreed to an appointment with Lindsay. I then briefed a confidential informant (CI) about possible prostitution activity at the location. "Lindsay" confirmed the location of 10999 Reed Hartman Hwy, suite #136. I was also able to identify "Lindsay" as Kelsey Hildal.

The CI then walked into the business property and assisting officers (Det Lt Gerhardt, Det Lewis, Det Niehaus, and PO Taylor) were able to monitor the CI through an audio device. The CI then entered suite#136 and was greeted by Hildal. Hildal told the CI get undressed and lay face up. CI then gave Hildal the mutually agreed upon $120 for the massage. Hildal then left the room with the money and returned shortly after wearing only a bra and underwear, where she spoke with the CI as he lay naked on the massage table. Hildal then offered multiple services to the CI for an additional cost. Hildal stated that the CI could purchase a "topless massage" for additional $100, or a "mutual touch massage" for additional $200. The CI asked what was offered in the "mutual touch massage" and Hildal stated that she and the CI could touch and/or kiss each other anywhere above the waist while she was topless. Hildal advised she did not offer "happy endings", but told the CI "you can finish yourself".

The CI agreed to the "topless massage" and Hildal removed her bra to expose her breasts to the CI as he lay naked and uncovered. Hildal then began to massage the CI as he lay face up and according to the CI, Hildal leaned over his face and continually placed her breasts on his face while she massaged his inner thigh/groin area. The CI advised Hildal touched or grazed his penis with her knuckles multiple times as she massaged near his genitals.

The CI was then given a predetermined signal to exit the business and he was debriefed. Investigation is ongoing.

Video footage of this undercover operation is located on the confidential Investigative "I" drive.

Due to having two dogs inside the vehicle, Hildal was advised to drive her vehicle to her residence on Decima St. while PO Dungan and I followed her to her residence. Hildal was arrested on the current warrant for her arrest. PO Tolle responded to the residence where she was searched incident to arrest. Hildal was transported back to Blue Ash PD to be processed. Hildal advised she wanted to speak to PO McKinney in reference to the charges filed on her. Hildal was cited to HCMC, and was given a copy of the complaint and warrant served to her. Hildal was released from the PD.

Narratives

Statement of Facts

On June 7, 2024, at approximately 1224hrs, I, Deputy Boyd, was dispatched to 6592 Gretel Ct. Liberty Township, Ohio, for a burglary in progress. The caller told the dispatcher that an unknown white female with a dog just entered his home uninvited. Upon arrival, contact was made with the caller (Person #2) outside of the residence, who stated the female was still inside the residence with his wife (Person #3). Upon entering the home, the subject was in the kitchen area; she was placed in handcuffs and identified as (person #1). She was then escorted to my patrol vehicle. When speaking with person #1, she seemed manic and said people were chasing her. Her vehicle, a red Ford Escape bearing Ohio registration jvv 3278, was called in a reckless operator; the calling party stated the driver was passing vehicles at a high rate of speed on Princeton Rd. and then pulled over and ran from the vehicle into the wood line. Her vehicle was located directly behind the home where she was located. #13;

When speaking with (Person #2) and (Person #3) regarding their different options regarding the incident, they stated they did not wish to pursue charges against (Person #1) but just trespassed from the property. Dispatch was able to get ahold of (person #1) mother, identified as (Person #4), who responded and took possession of the k-9 and the vehicle. When speaking with (Person #4) about (person #1) state, she stated that she is not a drug user and this is not like her at all. Both (Person #1) and her mother (person #4) agreed she needed to be taken to Atrium Hospital for a physiological evaluation. I then transported (Person #1) to the Atrium and signed her in for a physiological evaluation. (Person #1) was trespassed from 6592 Gretel Ct.

That's the first memory Flathead Bravette basketball coach Kim Elliott has of 5-foot-4 senior Kelsey Hildal on the first day of basketball tryouts.

Elliott's first thought was "who is this kid who looks like she just wants to play basketball?"

Hildal walked up to the coach, shook his hand, introduced herself and calmly told him she'd like to try out.

"She just showed up. I didn't know anything about her or anything. It took a lot of guts to do what she did," he said.

"But she was just matter of fact."

It wasn't more than a couple minutes before freshman coach Dave Crosswhite, asked "'coach, did you see that?'"

He was reacting to Hildal's behind-the-back move for a layup.

It wasn't long before Elliott says he realized "there's something special that has just walked into the gym, basketball-wise."

A couple of the Braves' basketball coaches were watching Hildal the next day as they waited to begin their own practice.

Elliott turned to speak to them at one point. But before he could say a word, one piped up with "'wipe the smile off your face, coach.'"

And that is how Hildal became a Flathead Bravette.

Since then, she's averaged 18.8 points per game, third highest in Class AA, brought in an average of 3.7 rebounds per game and 1.7 assists. She's also broken the Flathead High School single-game scoring record.

The other Bravettes have been on her bandwagon since the beginning, according to Elliott.

"Their jaws dropped when we first started doing some drills," the coach said.

"But there wasn't one person, one girl that I saw a look in their eyes of jealousy," he said.

"She fit in with all of them. JV, varsity, they've all just kind of engulfed her. This group of girls I've got is pretty special. There's no drama on this team at all. Kelsey makes us better and they've jelled in terms of off the court. It's just very accepting of a person from outside," he said.

But none of that even nicks the surface of Kelsey Hildal's story.

She's 18, but already Hildal has been through brain surgery and a horrendous car accident during which she suffered a brain injury. She's been removed from her home in the middle of the night to attend a boot camp in North Carolina and she's been enrolled in Montana Academy.

To top it all, she nearly died of hypothermia during an jaunt through the Montana countryside last February.

It took several weeks for Kelsey to tell her story to her new coach.

Elliott had talked to Kelsey's mom, Robyn, but asked not to be told too much of Kelsey's history.

"It wanted to hear it unfiltered, from Kelsey," he said.

It came out Jan. 3 on a bus ride home from Great Falls.

The Bravettes drove home that night in a whiteout, the outside temperature was below zero and they had bus trouble.

Elliott, Kelsey and just a few others wound up on one bus while the rest of the girls rode home on another.

Between Great Falls and Mariah's Pass, she told her story.

Elliott is still in awe.

"The jaw kept dropping further and further and further. I felt honored that she trusted me with her story. I'm honored that she's on our team and I'm honored that she's been put in my life," Elliott said.

Raised in Cincinnati, Ohio, she is one of twin daughters born to Rick and Robyn Hildal.

Kelsey lived a normal life there until her fifth grade year. She was diagnosed with hemifacial spasm (a neuromuscular disorder characterized by frequent involuntary spasms on one side of the face).

The brain surgery stopped the spasms, but she went through rehab to learn to walk again - a 10-year-old learning among 60-year-old stroke patients.

Three years later, on the way to a soccer tournament, the Hildal family was involved in a car accident. Dad Rick and twin sister Alix, sitting on the passenger side, walked away with cuts and bruises. Mom Robyn and Kelsey weren't as lucky.

"One side of the car just got flattened," she said.

Robyn had a broken arm and Kelsey suffered numerous injuries - a punctured lung, a broken arm, lacerations to her ear and face and she needed staples in her head.

Her left arm is now shorter than her right.

But then, another undiagnosed injury appeared.

Very shortly after the accident "I started really acting out of character," Kelsey said.

"I was making some bad decisions," is all she will say.

Before the wreck, she had been a compliant child who enjoyed school, got great grades and was eager to please.

Afterward, she "just got really reckless and out of control.

"I just felt like I didn't care. It was just a huge change," she said.

But because the difference came on slowly, it took both Kelsey and her parents a few years to catch on.

"It was so slow and gradual, I didn't really notice it was happening," she said.

She still got perfect grades in school, but Alix, with whom she'd always been close, began to worry and eventually pulled away.

"At first, she wanted to be my buddy and not tell on me. But we became distant. It was heartwrenching," she said.

The Hildals eventually sent Kelsey to a wilderness boot camp in North Carolina.

Men came into the home in the middle of the night, handcuffed Kelsey and took her.

That is the hardest thing a parent has to do, have strangers come in the night and handcuff their child, she said.

Kelsey, though, saw it as a new adventure.

"I didn't fight them at all. I had this big smile on my face. I had this huge plan, how I was going to escape."

She wasn't scared - and when the men asked if she'd like to get something to eat, she chose McDonald's and loaded up on everything from burgers to a McFlurry.

She ate beans and rice for the next 60-some days and took a total of two showers.

She didn't last long at the boot camp.

She hiked all day, learned to build fires, and basically had the time of her life.

"I liked it too much. I loved it there and wanted to stay. I lived in the woods 24-7. You never go inside," she said.

She graduated early, spent one night with her parents and was on a flight to Montana. The Hildals had enrolled her in Montana Academy.

"I did not pick it," she said of Montana Academy.

"It was rough in the beginning. I really struggled to accept the program and work hard," she said.

She ran away twice - the second time nearly killed her.

"We were doing this thing they called 'Superclean,' she said.

Her job was to sweep off the porch. She piled on the clothing and headed out.

"They all thought I was outside shoveling, but really I was on my way. Just being on the run was eventful," she said.

She ran eight miles through 20 inches of snow and 5 below zero temperature from Montana Academy to McGregor Lake. She passed out on a picnic table, in shock and soaking wet from the sweat.

"I barely remember a lot of it. I was asleep when they came," she said.

Her counselor, Mary'L, found her.

Kelsey tried not to act too happy, but inside she says she was glad to be found.

She and Mary'L still see a lot of one another.

"We go out to breakfast. She's been great to me," she said.

Kelsey has been able to move on from Montana Academy. She is a senior at Flathead and lives in a transition house.

"I'm going to school in the real world now, doing my own shopping," she smiled.

There is a strict schedule she must adhere to, however.

"I have to be home for dinner (before 6 p.m.) and she has regular required meetings and study hours. Twice a week, she cooks dinner for everyone.

"I'm learning. One time I made this thing called 'lima bean surprise,'" she said.

"I really enjoy school and I think because I enjoy it, it makes it a lot easier time."

And there is basketball.

She started out a soccer player - and she still plays that sport - but the minute she picked up a basketball, she was hooked.

"It just felt really good to me. It felt natural."

She convinced her parents to put a hoop in the driveway and paid Alix to rebound for her.

The driveway was on a hill, 'so it really forced me to put up good shots," she said.

"Basketball is so important. It's a huge motivator to me. Just the team in general is like family to me. It's really helped me make friends, to stay in touch, it's a huge stress reliever to me. There's nothing more relaxing to me," she said.

"I look forward to going to practice. I feel in my element."

Kelsey hopes to play basketball at the next level.

A number of coaches have called, Elliott said.

"There's no question of whether she can play college basketball. It's just at what level and where," Elliott said.

"I want to stay out west. I like the culture and the people and the atmosphere and the pace seems a little slower," she said.

There are two threads through Kelsey's life right now - the desire to do well academically and basketball.

She's interested in science and math and in a possible career in the medical field, Elliott said.

"She's very quick at math. It's fun to listen to the girls (with their homework). If anybody has a problem, they just go to Kelsey," he said.

"She's got two lifelines," he said.

"She's had some major challenges in her life, but she just seems so grounded. I don't worry about her going back to old habits," he said.

"I'm in awe of her story and that she can still walk, let alone the moves she does. There's not one ounce of arrogance in her. She honestly believes she's not better than the other kids.

"What I see out there, I see life. I don't see a basketball player. I see life. I would not have seen that 10 years ago," the coach said.

"It's about hard work and it's about never quitting.

"Kelsey is teaching me. And she doesn't even know it."
